

Article 1 Section 1

THE LAW OF CONSANGUINEOUS FORFEITURE:

should any member of the Royal House be found to have bedded a biological sibling, they shall be immediately stripped of all titles and removed from the seat of power. The throne shall pass to the next eligible heir who can prove, via a sworn affidavit from a local family priest, that they have not shared a bed with anyone related to them within four degrees of separation for at least one lunar cycle.